“Team Player Mode”

To help you, the host, prepare for this production, we’d like to give you some information and suggestions.

Synopsis:

“Team Player Mode,” written by Bethany Wallace, is a play for elementary age children about bullying prevention and accepting differences.

Today’s mission: start at a new school and make some friends. After Ben moves in with his dad he finds out life at his new school is way different. Everyone makes fun of his backpack and they all play that new adventure video game. If Ben can just learn how to play and complete a mission he’ll be invited to join The 5th Grade Gamers. But between his opponents in the fantastical video game world and the students at school, Ben’s going to need the power of the three R’s: Recognizing, Reporting and Refusing bullying behavior and the teamwork of his gaming friends to complete his mission.
